To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to posit at this juncture that I believe that Microsoft, and in turn, Bill Gates, have acted towards both the courts and the American public with a unfathomable disregard for the law.

It saddens me to see the courts capitulating once again to a corporate interest so obviously full of contempt towards the legal system because of their own wealth and power.

I just want it noted that once you , the justice department, bow before the Microsoft giant and give in with little more than a slap on the wrist for Mr. Gates and his corporate cronies, you should hang your heads in shame for you have done a disservice to the American People, and the law which you are supposed to enforce.

Thank You,

Nathaniel Ward
